

Create government procurements faster.

Gain insights from past procurements to accelerate your acquisition.

Create requirements faster with ProcureSight, a one-of-a-kind market intelligence tool that puts federal procurement data at your fingertips. ProcureSight quickly finds similar past procurements and automatically provides insights into previously solicited requirements.

Don't reinvent the wheel.

Leverage similar past procurements to gain insight into costs, timelines, contract vehicles, past suppliers, small business utilization, and more. You'll make more efficient and informed decisions on the best acquisition methods, vendors, and capabilities in the marketplace.

Get better search results.

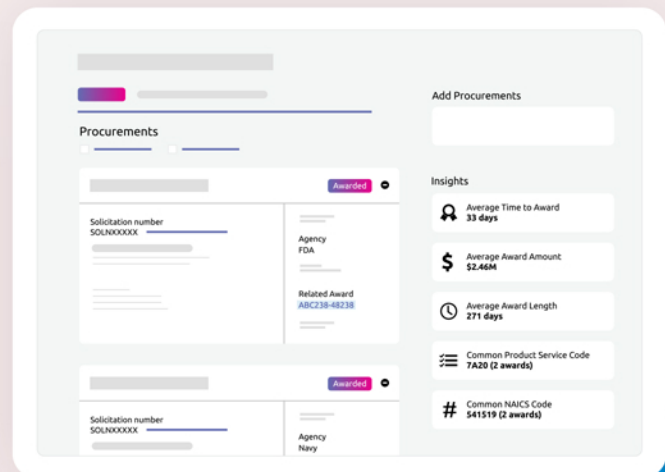

ProcureSight's semantic search quickly finds similar past procurements, ending your frustrations with manually searching through government websites like SAM.gov and saving you time.

Link solicitation and award data.

ProcureSight displays relevant solicitations and awards in one place and easily links the data—something that's nearly impossible to do manually.

Build better documents, faster.

ProcureSight's AI chatbot quickly finds the details you're looking for in historical documents and a generative AI tool can create document outlines for you based on past public procurement documents—enabling you to work faster and with greater accuracy.
